

History and sustainability

the IIS Carafa Giustiniani as an example of excellence

The Construction, Environment and Territory direction of our Institute focuses its interest on sustainability linked to public construction and green building with the creation of an innovative project. In particular, the students of the IV C.A.T. a.s. 2023\2024, supported by their teachers, have decided to create this project born from the union of different skills ranging from the linguistic, mathematical and technical-practical fields. The aim of the project is to show if our school is really green, touching deeply the reality of what will characterize our working future.
